

Measure the distance between the two points shown, i.e. the point where the wing joins the body, and the furthestmost tip of the forewing. Record to the nearest millimetre.

Note whether it is a male or a female.

Note if it is reared, or caught in the wild. If you are rearing them and you know the host plant that would be helpful.